TO SUBSCRIBERS.
It is the aim of the management to secure efficient service in the delivery of the paper each night, and it solicits the co-operation of subscribers to that end. Prompt report should be given of each failure to receive the paper on the morning following the omission, in person, by telephone or postal card, thus enabling the cause of the error to be promptly and accurately discovered and the proper remedy immediately applied. It is only by this method that the publisher can secure the desired service.

FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1913.

It would be interesting to know the cost of the concrete walks that are being laid by Road Commissioner Brown for the sake of comparison with the prices paid by the sidewalk commission. The walks which are being put in by the road commissioner certainly have the appearance of being better built and more permanent.

All that Thomas A. Edison has said of the possibilities of the moving pictures is coming true. The Bible students in their conference at Springfield voted Monday almost unanimously to promote Bible study by the utilization of motion pictures. The fine feature of the plan is that there shall be no admission fee in connection with the exhibitions. The whole scheme is devised to spread the teaching of the gospel by what is considered the most far-reaching means, and in a way that can reach the greatest number of people in the most entertaining way.

The report of Governor Fletcher's special commission to investigate the state telephone situation does not impress one as being a document based upon a thorough sifting of the facts in the case. Indeed, it appears to be hastily prepared and its conclusions expressive of the wishes of the framers rather than the actual findings. This opinion is strengthened after reading the statement of the New England Telephone company's counsel published in yesterday afternoon's papers. There is little doubt in the public mind that the telephone situation in Vermont needs investigation, but a hurried and superficial survey of conditions amounts to nothing.

The Pennsylvania state tax on hard coal sent out of the state means an addition of an average of six cents a ton to the price at the mine and will yield the state four and a half millions annually. One-half of the total will be apportioned to the counties producing the coal. The other half will be subject to use by legislative appropriations. City aldermanic boards will have entire control of the sums assigned to the cities. The tax will not alone materially reduce local taxation, but will in some cases eliminate it entirely. Answer to objections is claimed in the taxing power granted to states in the case of some other products. But the economical status of coal is different. Unquestionably, the tax is oppressive, and the consumer is its victim. It is a selfish tax. It does not even stimulate domestic industry. It merely increases cost to the man least able to pay for it, for the poorest purchaser will be the one to feel most heavily the extra burden. And it means dire increase in the already overwhelming cost of living.

There are mutterings of a coming senatorial contest in Vermont next year, but little definite information is yet at hand. The Randolph Herald says it is known that Senator William P. Dillingham, whose term expires March 4, 1915, will be a candidate for re-election as a Republican. Gov. Allen M. Fletcher is supposed to be feeling the ice to see whether it is likely to hold up under him if he should conclude to try for the seat, though as yet he has not proceeded far enough to bear his full weight on it. The Progressives have been trying to snare Interstate Commerce Commissioner Charles A. Prouty into the game—without apparent success. Mr. Prouty, it is believed, would accept a nomination from progressives of all stripes, but objects to the "Progressive" label, which the Vermont leaders of that party insist he must bear if they endorse him. The Democrats have not yet talked over their plans in public. The choice of the next United States senator will be made directly by the voters at the polls in November of next year. The method of their nomination, by the several parties, will wait on action by the coming special session of the legislature, following the referendum vote of next March.

OUR QUESTION BOX

Will anything remove spots on silver caused by egg stains?
Salt will remove the stain from silver caused by eggs when applied dry with a soft cloth.

To settle a dispute can you tell me when the barrel of whiskey was stolen from the freight house here?

In May, 1912. The robbery took place some time on the night of May 22, a barrel containing 60 quarts being stolen. Of this amount 13 quarts were recovered, having been found hidden in the bushes.

When were the first Austine scholarship awards at the high school?
In June, 1907.

How long is Hoosac Tunnel?
It is four and three-quarters miles, or, to be exact, 25,031 feet.

THE VERMONT STATE FAIR.

Premium List Shows Great Plans for White River Junction Show.

The seventh annual Vermont state fair will be held in White River Junction, Sept. 16, 17, 18 and 19, and the competition for the premiums offered will be open to the world. The principal object of the fair is to exhibit the resources and products of Vermont and to stimulate Vermonters to greater efforts for the improvement and development of the state's agricultural and mechanical resources. Thousands of dollars are offered in purses and some of the fastest horses in the country will compete.

There will be special amusement features daily during the fair and no expense will be spared by the management to make the visitors enjoy themselves to the utmost. A line of railroad connects the entrance to the fair grounds with the main line of the Woodstock railway, making the railroad facilities for the receiving and shipping of cattle and other exhibits unsurpassed. More additional tracks for storing cars have been laid so the empty stock cars will not have to be taken to the Junction. There are three good hotels in the town of Hartford, including the Junction House at White River Junction, one of the largest hotels in the state, and the American House, Pease's hotel, at Hartford, now called the White River tavern, has been renovated and put in first class condition; also Hotel Rogers at Lebanon, N. H., four miles distant. Accommodations will be furnished at all the hotels at reasonable rates. There are several good restaurants. The people of White River Junction will also furnish rooms to all those attending the fair who may desire them. Special trains will be run every night during the fair to Woodstock, 12 miles from White River Junction, and to Hanover and Lebanon each four miles distant, so that the public can avail themselves of the hotel accommodations at these places. For further particulars, of for premium list, address, F. L. Davis, secretary and treasurer at White River Junction. All communications and entries should be addressed to him.

All live stock entries must be made on or before Sept. 1, but letters containing entries and bearing the postmark of Sept. 1, will be received. Copies of the premium list and extra blank forms for entries will be furnished on application to Mr. Davis. Exhibitors must state at the time of entry, the amount of space they desire to be reserved for their exhibits. All exhibitors of live stock whose entry fee amounts to $2 or more will be entitled to an exhibitor's ticket, admitting him or her to the fair grounds. Applications for passes for employees must be made by the exhibitor, stating such employee's name to the secretary. All protests must be in writing, stating in plain terms the cause of complaint, with the signature of the protestor attached thereto, and will not be received unless delivered to the superintendent before the stock is removed from the grounds. The management assumes no responsibility in case of loss or damage to stock or other exhibits from any cause; and upon this condition only are exhibits received. The management reserves the right to refuse any entries offered, particularly such as require an unreasonable amount of space. Upon application exhibitors will be informed by the superintendents of the various departments when the judges may be expected to examine the stock of other exhibits. Exhibitors desiring to erect separate buildings must apply for permission to the secretary. Exhibitors requiring additional work in the buildings or elsewhere must make a like application. In all such cases the exhibitors must bear the expense. Implements and machines exhibited must be labeled with the name of the exhibitor.

In the height of the Mississippi river floods last year the flow was 2,300,000 cubic feet a second, or 12 times the amount of water that passes over Niagara falls.

FASHION NOW DEMANDS THAT THE HAIR BE DRESSED SIMPLY

SIMPLE NEW COIFFURE.

WHERE they only able to realize it, most women look better with their hair dressed simply. A new coiffure of this kind is illustrated here. The hair is parted, waved, brought down over the ears and arranged in a modish figure 8 coil at the back. Small, neatly dressed heads are fashionable now, large and elaborate coiffures being considered bad form. The hair is arranged to show the shape of the head, though forehead and ears are hidden.

ABOUT FOOTGEAR.

It Should Be of Good Quality and Well Fitting.

In buying hosiery the sensible woman gets it a half size larger than her foot. When wearing her stockings she has the toes pulled well forward to allow plenty of room when the shoes are on and her foot pushes forward. She takes care, however, that the hosiery is so adjusted that it does not wrinkle under the soles.

The feet should be bathed daily and dusted with talcum or some special foot powder, and a pair of stockings should never be worn longer than a single day.

It is an important matter for the health as well as appearance that the heels of shoes should be kept straight. When the slightest edge is worn at the side a new layer should be put on.

The feet should always be kept properly warm. So the woman who wishes to look well should avoid light, showy footwear and don high, well soled shoes of stout leather for her tramps. These, if treated with an oil which comes for that purpose, may be made waterproof, though this destroys the gloss and is objected to by many women on that account. Applied to the soles, it prevents them from soaking up water from the pavement. Melted mutton tallow put on when hot and in its liquid state will also waterproof the soles of shoes. Linseed oil or ordinary vaseline serves the purpose, though not so well as the former.

When not in use shoes should be kept in a bag or box, where the weather will not affect them. Cold seems to have a disastrous effect on patent leather. Rubber overshoes should never be left in a cold room. If there is any latent dampness in the lining of rubber shoes the gum will crack.

Light trees should be provided for all shoes if possible. If these are not available the shoes should be stuffed with paper when put away. This serves to preserve the shape.

Every four weeks it is a good plan to clean off black and tan shoes with harness soap. Scrub them off as you would harness. This will remove the dust, grease and caked blacking and make the shoes last longer. Shoes treated in this way will then take on a better polish.

Neat, fresh shoe laces should be provided, and the buttons should be sewed on firmly. When one comes off sew it on at once. The adjustment of the buttons should be carefully considered, for a shoe whose buttons are not properly placed will never look nice and may weaken or strain the ankle, according to whether it is too loose or too tight.

Before making new sheets always measure the bed for which they are intended.

CARE OF TEETH.

A clean tooth never decays.
Natural teeth are better than artificial ones.
A live tooth is better than a dead one.
A dollar spent at the dentist's in time will save nine in the future.
A toothbrush is a necessity, not a luxury.
We are often judged by our teeth and breath.

KITCHENETTES.

If you rinse a plate with cold water before breaking the eggs in it, add to them a pinch of salt and then stand where there is a current of air you will have no difficulty in beating them to a froth.

To make arrowroot jelly moisten two tablespoonsful of arrowroot in a little cold water and then add a pint of hot water to this and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly. This should be prepared in a double boiler.

When taking cakes baked in a tin out of the oven stand the tin on a wet cloth for a few minutes. The cakes can then be turned out without the aid of a knife and will not stick to the tin, as frequently happens otherwise.

To make oatmeal jelly boil four tablespoonsful of oatmeal in one pint of water (in a double boiler) for three hours, adding water from time to time, and then strain.

fullness to the upper part which is markedly contrasted by the narrowness of the lower tier. The flouncing is draped over the shoulders, caught in by the satin girdle and falls over the skirt to form a graceful tunic. The hat matches the gown and is supplemented by a dainty parasol.

Protecting Glass.

To keep a glass or cup from bursting when any boiling mixture is put in try putting a silver spoon in and pouring the mixture on it. That generally keeps the glass from cracking or breaking.
